Our MG community took note of the recent news regarding the latest therapy options that aim to reduce the burden of hours-long treatment delivery with IVIG. For those who are responding well to this new treatment, it's a game changer. But we recognize that many patients are interested in learning more, so here are some questions that have come in from the MG community with answers provided by Dr. Betty Soliven of the University of Chicago School of Medicine and a member of our Medical Advisory Board. Chicago Regional Conference & Community Health Fair

Conquer MG partnered with Myasthenia Gravis Foundation of America to hold its first Regional Conference and Community Health Fair! More than 60 people attended the morning speaker series and enjoyed the health fair in the afternoon.

We want to thank our speakers, Dr. Rabia Malik, neurologist at Rush University Medical Center, who spoke about emerging MG therapies, and Dr. Sonia Caraballo, neurologist in the Advocate Medical Group, who spoke about overall wellness and strategies for managing daily living with MG.

And a big thank you to our volunteer team, Tammy Carter, J'Sean Nunnery and Sara Haysmeyer and the many sponsors who help make this educational opportunity possible!

Thanks, Conquer MG sponsors, for your support of this event!
